19. How can Jessy Grizzle improve the teaching of this course? (Q901)
    - At first, when we were learning a lot of theory, things seemed confusing and overwhelming, but once we applied them to real world situations or went through practice problems, it all clicked and made sense. I think more practice problems or applications would be beneficial.

16. Which aspects of this course were most valuable? (Q908)
    - The lectures, projects, and Julia homework. When time is taken to go through every line of that homework, you understand a lot.

17. Please comment on the quality of the course as a whole. (Q911)
    - Great quality. I love the set up of this course and the lighter workload allows me to pick parts of the course, like LiDar technology, that I am more interested in and delve deeper. Also, if I can't do a homework assignment as well as I would like to because of workload from other classes, it doesn't kill my grade. This course allows me to prioritize. And this course being an elective, I took it because I wanted to, not because I had to, indicating more so that I am willing to put that extra work in.

18. How can Jessy Grizzle improve the teaching of this course? (Q901)
    - More examples of some linear problems and how they relate to Julia please.

16. Which aspects of this course were most valuable? (Q908)
    - I feel that the Julia segments of the course were the most valuable overall. The course's focus on the computational applications of linear algebra was best served when I could witness those computational powers firsthand through Julia problems and projects.

17. Which aspects of this course were least valuable? (Q909)
    - It's hard to say which aspects of the course were the least valuable, since every aspect addressed a different part of using linear algebra in a computational manner. Written homework, which I may be inclined to say was the least valuable, nevertheless served an important role in explaining the concepts and theories of linear algebra.

18. Please comment on the quality of the course as a whole. (Q911)
    - As a whole, this course was of an excellent quality, and I am glad that I had the unique opportunity to be a part of it.

19. How can Jessy Grizzle improve the teaching of this course? (Q901)
    - A small improvement to the course would be for professor Grizzle to work through more examples in lectures. As it is, I can sometimes get slightly overwhelmed by the theories and proofs being presented, because I do not fully comprehend until Professor Grizzle works through an example how they could be practically applied in full.
